PREFACE

In the conduct of our business as funeral directors, the need for a complete and reliable reference manual containing data and information of cemeteries in the vicinity of New York City, has been repeatedly made apparent, both in seeking information for our own use, and for the guidance of our patrons. Realizing that others must have encountered this same need for a work of this character, we undertook its compilation.

The effort has been made to make the manual authoritative as well as comprehensive. No time or labor has been spared to make it accurate. In the light of our own experience we believe we have gathered much useful and interesting information, and we have sought to present it in a concise and systematic form. The task and expense of gathering the data has been much greater than we anticipated. We have in the main, met with the hearty co-operation of the various cemetery officials, and we are sincerely grateful for the assistance rendered.

In connection with the subject of cemeteries, we considered it desirable to present a digest of the various laws relating to the cemeteries referred to in the volume, and also pertaining to undertakers, embalmers, burials, transportation of the dead and decedents' estate. We, therefore, enlisted the aid of Mr. John Edward Ruston, whose peculiar qualifications as a legal specialist in these matters render him particularly able to know and provide the information most necessary and valuable to undertakers and the public generally. We are indebted to him for the excellent article he has contributed.

In presenting our Manual we ask your indulgence. We have put about two years of painstaking labor and considerable money into gathering and printing this information, but to err is human, and should any errors or omissions exist, we shall deem it a kindness to call our attention to it. We trust our labors have not been in vain and that the Manual will prove itself of real and lasting value.

INTRODUCTION

THE FAIRCHILD CEMETERY MANUAL gives a brief description of all the cemeteries within about fifty miles of New York, their location, the best way to reach them, official prices of plots and graves, with superintendents' names and regulations, thus placing any person in position to obtain immediate and correct information concerning any of these cemeteries in which he may be interested.

The manual also contains a list of the cemeteries in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Connecticut, a list of all the National Cemeteries of the United States, a list of Monument Makers, a list of State Associations of Undertakers and Embalmers, a list of names and locations of all hospitals, morgues, coroners' offices, and burial permit offices in Greater New York, and an official list of the members of the American Association of Cemetery Superintendents.

Finally the book contains a careful compilation, by Mr. John E. Ruston, of the laws of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Connecticut relating to cemeteries, undertaking and embalming and the transportation rules governing shipment of bodies by common carriers, the administration of estates of deceased persons and the burial of soldiers and marines.

SPECIAL INFORMATION

Prices Given were corrected by each Cemetery Superintendent early in March, 1910, and are therefore official at that date. Unless Specifically Stated, of each Cemetery, there is no Receiving Vault.

Unless Specifically Stated no bodies of persons dying of contagious diseases will be placed in any Receiving Vault, in any Cemetery.

Burial of Husband and Wife—There is a bit of sentiment attached to the burial of husband and wife, the idea being they should lie in their graves in the same relative position they stood before the altar at the time of their marriage. Therefore, the wife should be buried on the right side of the husband, as you enter the plot and face the monument.

RAILROAD RATES.

The railroads having terminal facilities either in or connected by ferry with New York City have established rates for parties and special cars. These railroads include the Central Railroad of New Jersey, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Erie, Long Island, Lehigh Valley, New York Central & Hudson River, New York, New Haven & Hartford, New York, Susquehanna & Western, Pennsylvania and the West Shore.

Two of these roads have cars specially arranged for funeral parties. The other roads use either a Pullman or a regular combination passenger and baggage car attached to regular trains. When a Pullman car is used the regular Pullman car rates are charged in addition to the rates quoted below.

The New York Central Railroad operates cars specially designed for funeral parties, which are attached to regular trains, running from the Grand Central Terminal or the 155th Street Station of the Putnam Division. Or a special train will be run, made up of the car and an engine.

The New York New Haven & Hartford Railroad operates cars having special equipment, running from the Grand Central Terminal or the Harlem River Station.

The charge for the movement of special cars is generally 25 fares or tickets, with a minimum value of $25.00 This charge is for a party of 25 persons, and for each additional person the regular fare is charged.

The New Haven Railroad, in addition to the above rates, charges for their "Private Party Cars" moved 75 miles or less, $15.00; over 75 miles to 120 miles, $20.00; over 120 miles and not over 233 miles, $25.00.

The New York Central Railroad quotes the following rates for funeral car, with party not to exceed 35 persons, operated between the Grand Central Terminal and

The Pennsylvania Railroad quotes the following rates for service between New York and Linden, N. J., for movement of special car attached to regular trains. For a party of 25 to 60 persons, with a minimum revenue of $25.00, in each direction.

The rates quoted herein are officially given by the railroad companies at the present time, but are subject to change at the option of the railroad companies.

METHOD OF COLLECTING VETERAN'S BURIAL EXPENSES.

Allowed by the State for the burial of Soldiers, Sailors, Marines, or their Widows.

This law (see page¹⁹¹) states that some person must be designated as the proper official to administrate this fund, usually some officer of the Board of Health of each County.

In Greater New York at present Mr. J. G. Tate, Room 32 on the 3rd floor in the Department of Health, 55th St. and 6th Av., New York City, has the matter in charge.

In case of the burial of a soldier, sailor or marine, the widow must appear before Mr. Tate, or in case of the burial of the soldier's widow, providing her marriage was prior to 1890, the next of kin must appear in person, together with the undertaker and a member of the G. A. R. Post or V. S. W. V., or other military organization or a friend who knew the deceased in life. Each one must make and swear to an affidavit that the deceased had insufficient funds to defray the burial expenses and had no insurance on his or her life, and present the government's "honorable discharge" or widow's pension papers, together with a transcript of death, with the undertaker's bill which shall not exceed $50.

These affidavits, transcripts and discharge papers are then forwarded by the official in charge to the Comptroller who forwards to the undertaker a cheque, together with the "Discharge Papers."

OWNERSHIP OF CEMETERY LOTS.

We have been led to the conclusion that few people fully understand the principles of ownership in Cemetery Lots.

Each cemetery gives evidence of ownership, in the form of a deed or formal receipt, which deed or receipt constitutes the outward evidence of the book records of the particular cemetery.

The by-laws, rules and regulations contained on their books, form part of the contract. The mere possession of a deed or receipt from a cemetery does not necessarily constitute ownership. The real ownership of a cemetery lot is governed by the book records of each cemetery.

It is wise, therefore, that heirs take up at once the new ownership of a cemetery lot, upon the death of its former owner. Cases have occurred where this matter has been put off so long that it became impossible to prove ownership and, therefore, to secure the further use of the lot.

In the case of certain religious corporations, the right of burial is denied to all who do not die believers of, or subscribers to the particular form of religion or creed endorsed by the organization which controls the cemetery. This is particularly true in the cases of Catholic cemeteries, which are governed and controlled in each case by the church itself, which under many decisions of the court has been held to be the sole judge as to the right of burial.

Cemetery lots are not taxable nor can they be reached by creditors for debt under judgment or through court proceedings. It is usually true that lots are indivisible, except when the consent of the owner and the corporation is obtained.

Another point of misunderstanding is rights of a husband or wife in a cemetery lot owned by either. A lot standing in the name of the husband, on his death descends first to his children or to the husband's brothers and sisters or father and mother, never to the wife, nor has the wife any dower right or control over the lot, except that she has the right to be buried beside her husband. Likewise, a lot purchased in a married woman's name, will on her death, go to her children or to her brothers and sisters or her father and mother, never to her husband, he having, however, right of burial therein.

It is a very simple matter at any time to place on the books of your cemetery, the names of those whose burial you desire in your lot. In that manner you will preclude trouble for those who have a right to be buried there, and prevent burials that you may not wish to have made in your lot.

OUT OF TOWN UNDERTAKERS.

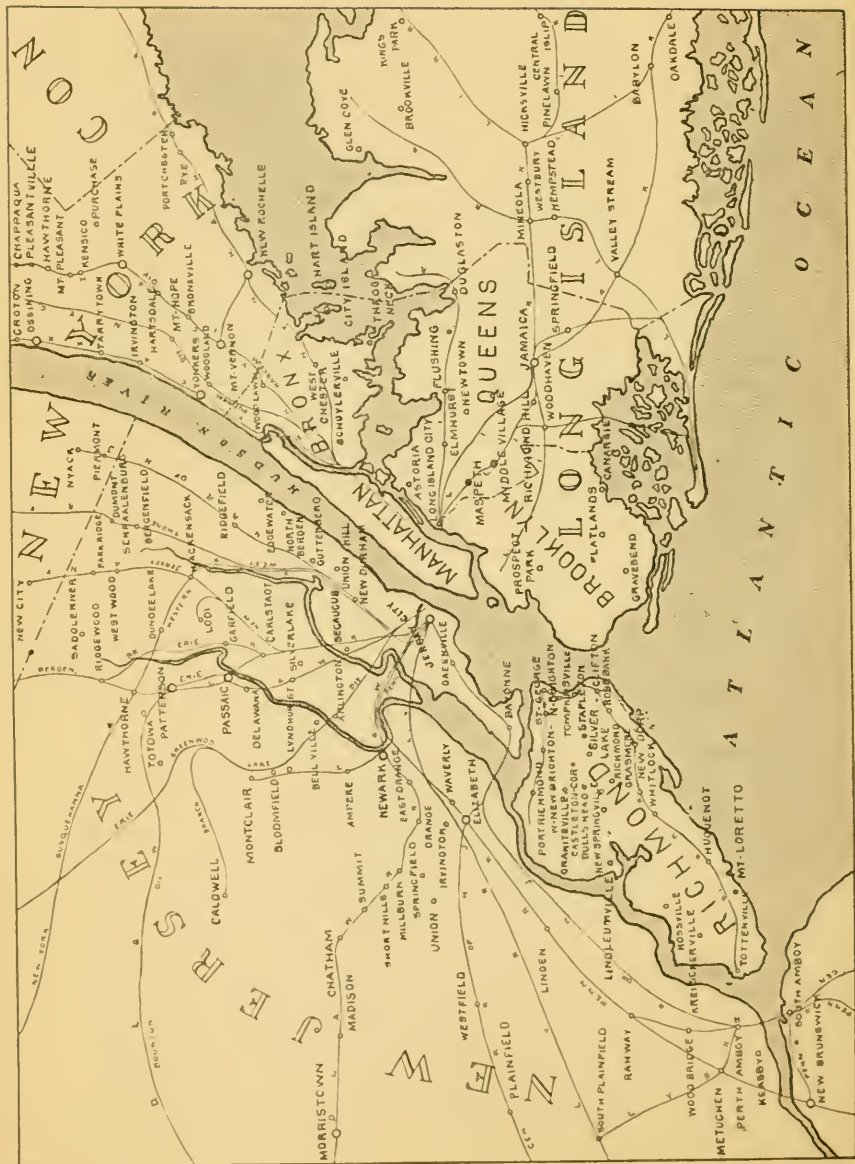

Particular attention is called to the fact that you should always use a special width casket and box when making interment in Holy Cross, Calvary or St. Raymond's Cemetery.

These grounds were surveyed allowing a certain number of inches to a grave and when your box exceeds that special width, you encroach on another grave in a plot, which is sometimes impossible, and at all times impossible in the "Single Grave Section."

In Calvary and Holy Cross Cemeteries, this special width is 24 inches; in St. Raymond's, 26 inches.

If your casket is ordered from a wholesale house of Greater New York and you specify "Calvary" size you will probably save much annoyance and your family the loss of the use of a grave.

An asterisk * opposite each of the above cemeteries calls attention to this note.

SEXTON—Philip G. Waters, at office.

INTERMENTS—Are still permitted to lot-owners and the charge for opening a grave is $11. Very few burials have been made there during the past decade or more, as nearly all the plots are filled.

This cemetery is not as old as Trinity Churchyard, but its history is interwoven with that of Trinity's, for, as is well known, St. Paul's Church was built to accommodate Trinity's increasing congregation. It was during the year of 1763 that it was decided to erect a new chapel and in 1766 this church was opened and at the time was considered the finest church building on this continent.

From the time of the dedication of the Church, records of interments are found of the well-known persons of those days, although for many years the Trinity Churchyard appears to have been the more preferred burial place.

The establishment of this churchyard dates back to the origin of Trinity Church, which was the first authorized Protestant Church in New York. During the month of May, 1697, a charter of incorporation was granted to the Church by Lieutenant Governor Fletcher. In this charter the first mention of the cemetery is found. It reads as follows: "And that said church together with the cemetery or church yard thereunto adjoining may forever hereafter be dedicated and consecrated to the public worship and service of God, according to the Rites and ceremonies of the Protestant Church of England."

It appears that at first the regulations regarding the use of the cemetery were loose and unsatisfactory; for the following year (1698) this record appears: "After the expiration of four weeks from the date hereof no negroes be buried within the bounderies & Limits of the Church yard of Trinity Church, that is to say in the rear of the present burying place & that no person or negro whatsoever do presume after the term above Limited to break up any grounds for the burying of his Negro as they will answer at their perill & that this order be forthwith published."

From this time on, accounts are found of the burials of many of the noted personages of those times, such as Rev. William Vesey, the first pastor to Trinity Church, Lord Lovelace, and many others.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAWS RELATING TO AND GOVERNING BURIALS, TRANSPORTATION OF BOD- IES, CEMETERIES AND DECEDENTS' ESTATES.

PREFATORY NOTE.

This article was prepared, and the collation of statutes was made, by John Edward Ruston, Esq., Attorney and Counselor at Law, 220 Broadway, Manhattan, New York City, who, as attorney for the National Casket Company, certain cemeteries and many prominent undertakers, has become a specialist in matters relating to undertakers, embalmers, burials, cemeteries and decedents' estates.

GENERAL STATEMENT.

The proper burial of the human body is a common-law right. The immediate duty of burial devolves upon the husband, wife or next of kin of the deceased, or upon the person in whose house death may occur. The right of selecting the burial place, or of determining upon the final disposition of the body, rests in the husband, wife, or next of kin of the deceased. The courts ordinarily will not interfere with the determination of such persons in this particular. It has been held that the deceased himself may by his will determine upon and provide for the disposition of his remains.

Every person is entitled to a funeral in accordance with his station in life. The expenses of a funeral, and of the burial or disposition of a body, may be a matter of contract, but when not determined by contract, the undertaker is entitled to be paid a "reasonable" charge based upon the decedent's rank and station in life, although it may afterwards appear that the estate of the decedent is insolvent. It is a recognized rule that an executor before the grant of letters, may pay funeral charges, and even dispose of property, so to do, and must bury the decedent in accordance with his station in life, and the amount of the estate left behind him. Whoever pays such charges is entitled to reimbursement out of the funds of the estate, as the estate is ultimately liable for the reasonable expenses of burial. In most states these charges become either a preferred debt of the estate, or are considered and paid as administration charges. Generally speaking all matters incident to a proper burial are embraced in the funeral charges. In some states the expenses of the last illness are included. The copy of the verdict of a coroner's jury, mourning for the family of the decedent, and a moderate tombstone, have variously been held to be proper charges, where the estate was solvent.

Since the earliest times the bodies of deceased persons have been disposed of either by cremation or by burial. The ancients buried their dead in elaborate tombs and sepulchers. The early Christians buried their dead in catacombs. With the establishment of the Christian Church it became a custom to bury the dead in the land surrounding the various churches.

The modern cemetery is a matter of evolution. Cemeteries were first established by the eastern nations. They are known to have existed from time immemorial. The most picturesque are to be found in Turkey, in the neighborhood of Constantinople, where they comprise vast tracts of cypress woods. The first western nation to set aside a cemetery of the modern type was France, which, about 1804, established the famous cemetery known as Père la Chaise, located in Paris.

The cemetery of to-day has been held to be a public place. It may be created by the dedication of land for the burial of the dead, and by distinguishing it as such from the adjoining land. When a cemetery is so established it is usually free from taxation.

There are several kinds of cemeteries, to wit: private or family cemeteries, municipal cemeteries and corporate cemeteries. In the early colonial times, and even in later years in the rural districts, it was customary for each family to have its own cemetery, or for families to club together and set apart certain land to be used in common for the burial of the dead. The establishment of cemeteries by the act of a municipal government is common in some localities. Cemeteries, however, are more commonly to be found as established and maintained by corporations, either as a mutual semi-almshouse institution or as a purely business enterprise.

The matter of burials is governed by the individual laws of the several States, and as the cemeteries set forth in this volume are located in the States of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts, the various laws of these States are hereinafter separately considered.

DECEDENTS' ESTATES.

The distribution of the estates of deceased persons is always governed by will, if there is one. If, however, the deceased dies intestate, the matter of distribution is governed by the law of the state in which the deceased resided or left property.

A will in order to be valid must be executed in accordance with the law of the state in which it is made. The laws of the individual states vary but little on this subject. In almost all states the following requisites must be observed. The will must be in writing. The person making the same must sign his name at the end thereof. The will must be signed and acknowledged in the presence of at least two disinterested persons, who must sign as witnesses at the request and in the presence of the testator and in the presence of each other, and the testator must, at the time of such signature, declare the document to his last will and testament.

The respective laws of the individual states vary to such an extent with respect to the administration of estates of persons dying intestate, that it is impossible in an article of this nature to enter into an extended discussion of same. For the purpose of indicating in a very general way the statutory provisions existing in the states of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts, the author has tabulated the individual laws of the said states so as to indicate: (1) Who are entitled to a preference in administration. (2) When an accounting must be made by an administrator or executor. (3) The amount of the transfer or inheritance tax to be paid by the various persons entitled to distribution. (4) What debts and obligations are preferred. (5) Who are entitled to distribution of an intestate's estate.

RAILROADS.

Each railroad has its own special rules relating to the transportation of corpses. These rules in each case are governed by the municipal and State laws of the locality from which shipment is made and through which transportation is desired. By reference to the laws and rules stated hereinbefore an idea may be obtained of the requirements of each of the four States in which the cemeteries referred to in this volume are located.

In general, however, it is required by all railroads that the cost of transportation is the price of one first-class ticket on which is printed the word "corpse," or a minimum charge of one dollar. Each corpse must be accompanied by a person in charge; certificates of the proper authorities must be attached to the box or casket in which shipment is made, or must be presented by the person in charge when required; it is usual in most instances that the corpse must be enclosed in a hermetically sealed casket, especially when death was caused by contagious or infectious disease. Disinterred bodies are usually considered to be in the class of those dead of contagious or infectious disease.

Upon inquiry at the office of the railroad over which transportation is desired, all necessary information regarding transportation is easily obtainable.

Every person desiring to engage in the practice of embalming shall make written application to said board for an embalmer's license. Same shall be accompanied by an application fee of $5, and a certificate of some reputable person that the applicant is more than twenty-one years of age, is of good moral character and has obtained a common school education (Pub. An examination of the applicant must follow, and if in the judgment of the board the applicant is duly qualified to practice embalming of human dead bodies, a license so to do shall be issued upon payment of a fee of $10. The fact of the issuance of said license shall be registered at the office of the local board of health, and said license shall be displayed in a conspicuous place in the office of said licensee (Pub. Health L., §§ 293-294).

No person shall engage in the undertaking business unless he shall be a duly licensed embalmer and shall have been employed as an assistant to a licensed undertaker continuously for a period of at least three years (Pub. Health L., §§ 295, 298).

In a very recent, and as yet unreported, decision the Court of Appeals holds the aforesaid three-year provision to be unconstitutional, and the law will doubtless be amended in this particular (People v. Ringe).

Undertaker's licenses shall be issued by the said board upon payment of a registration fee of two dollars (Pub. Health L., § 295).

Each member of an undertaking firm or manager of each place of business conducted by a corporation shall be a licensed undertaker (Pub. Health L., § 295).

Such license shall be displayed in a conspicuous place in the office of the undertaker (Pub. Health L., § 295).

New York Laws.

A duly licensed embalmer actually engaged in his profession as a means of livelihood is entitled to exemption from service as a trial juror upon claiming his exemption therefrom (Jud. Law, §§ 546, 635 and 720).

Any person having a claim for funeral expenses of a decedent may apply for the issuance of letters of administration (C. C. P., § 2662).

Every executor or administrator shall pay out of the first moneys received the reasonable funeral expenses of the decedent, and the same shall be preferred to all debts and claims against the decedent's estate (C. C. P., § 2729).

It has been held that funeral expenses are not to be treated as a debt, but as a charge against the estate of a decedent, being in the nature of an administration charge and entitled to a preference as such (Paterson v. Paterson, 59 N. Y. 574).

The reasonableness of a funeral charge is governed by the station in life of the decedent and the amount of his estate. The general expenses incident to death are considered as part of the funeral charges. (The following court decisions bear on this proposition: Paterson v. Paterson 59 N. Y. 574; Wood v. Vanderburgh 6 Paige 277; Ferrin v. Myrick 41 N. Y. 315; Hasler v. Hasler 1 Bradf. 248; Freeman v. Coit 27 Hun. 447; Allen v. Allen 3 Dem. 524; Matter of Stadtmuller 110 A. D. 76.)

An executor named in a will has the power to pay the reasonable funeral charges of a deceased before issuance of letters testamentary (C. C. P., § 2613).

Where the county treasurer acts as administrator, he is authorized to pay funeral charges before the issuance of letters of administration (C. C. P., § 2666).

The surrogate may, by order, direct a temporary administrator to pay funeral expenses (C. C. P., § 2672).

If the undertaker is not paid within sixty days after date of death, he may apply to the surrogate by petition for the payment of funeral charges. The surrogate then passes upon the validity and reasonableness of the claim and may make an order directing the payment thereof (C. C. P., § 2729).

If it shall appear that no money has come into the hands of the executor or administrator such proceeding must be dismissed without costs and without prejudice to a further application showing that since such dismissal the estate has received funds (C. C. P., § 2729).

The real property of which a decedent dies seized may be disposed of upon application to the Court for the payment of funeral expenses (C. C. P., § 2749).

An executor or administrator of a decedent may maintain an action to recover damages for a wrongful act, neglect or default by which the decedent's death was caused and the damages recovered, if any, are exclusively for the benefit of the decedent's husband, wife or next of kin, and must be distributed as provided by law, but the plaintiff may deduct therefrom the reasonable funeral expenses of the decedent (C. C. P., §§ 1902, 1903).

The body of an honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine, who has seen service, or the body of the wife or widow of such, who shall have died without leaving sufficient estate for funeral expenses, shall be buried at the expense of the county, same not to exceed $50. (Poor Law, Sect. 4.)

The grave of such deceased shall be marked by a headstone, containing his name, and if possible, the organization to which he belonged, same to cost not more than $15, same to be a charge upon the county. (Poor Law, Sect. 85.)

RULES OF BOARD OF EMBALMING EXAMINERS.

1. All applications for examination for embalmer's license must have a certificate of some reputable person residing at the same place as the applicant, certifying that the applicant is more than twenty-one years of age, is of good moral character and has obtained a common school education, and the applicant must fill out the application in his own handwriting and sign the same and make affidavit to his signature and that the statements contained in the application are true and that the certificate or voucher is in the handwriting of the person whose name is subscribed thereto.

2. All applicants for undertaker's license who were not actually and actively engaged in the business of undertaking on April 29, 1904, must fill out an application such as prescribed by the Board of Embalming Examiners and swear to the statements contained therein before an officer authorized by law to take acknowledgments of deeds and supplement the same with the sworn statement of his last employer that he had been in his employ as an assistant undertaker for at least three years previous to the date of his application for license, or if employed as an undertaker's assistant by more than one undertaker during the last three years previous to his making application for an undertaker's license, the last two undertakers employing the applicant must fill out the "employer's voucher." Three of the vouchers on the application blank, at least, must be filled out and verified before the application for undertaker's license can be received.

3. All applications for examination must be filed, together with the application fee of five dollars, in the office of the secretary of the Board of Embalming Examiners at least four days before the date of the examination, to insure the examination of the applicant.

4. The secretary of the board shall notify the applicants for examination of the time and places of the four succeeding examinations after the date of the permit.

5. Applicants who pass the examination will be allowed until the first day of the second succeeding month, after notice of the result of each examination, to qualify as embalmers by the payment of the examining and licensing fee of ten dollars. After that date the examination shall be considered void, except by the direction of the board, which may dispense with this rule for good reasons on the part of the applicant for failure to comply with this rule.

6. Applicants for examination who are not residents of the State of New York are required to deposit with the secretary of the board the examining and licensing fee of ten dollars at the time they file their applications and pay their application fee of five dollars. If any such applicant should fail to pass the examination, the deposit of ten dollars shall be returned to such applicant who fails, at the time he is notified of the result of his examination, and such applicants who pass the examination shall be registered as licensed embalmers.

7. Samples of embalming fluid or compound submitted to the Board of Embalming Examiners for analysis and bacteriological test and certification must be received in a sealed bottle bearing the name of the fluid and the manufacturer. One gallon of bulk fluid or a quantity of concentrated fluid or embalming compound sufficient, as ordinarily used, to make one gallon of fluid must be submitted. Upon receipt of the package of fluid, a number will be assigned to it by the secretary of the board by which the fluid will always and only be known by the chemist and the bacteriologist. The name of the fluid or compound so designated by number shall be held in absolute confidence by such secretary until the reports of the chemist and bacteriologist have been made to the board at a meeting upon which action is taken on such reports. After having been assigned the number, the seal of the original package will be broken and one quart of the fluid, under the number so assigned, given to the chemist and one quart, under number, to the bacteriologist, in packages sealed by the secretary of the board. Immediately thereafter the original package will again be sealed by the secretary and preserved for future comparisons. All fees received for the examination and certification of embalming fluids shall be kept in a special fund to be known as the "Embalming Fluid Fund." Such fund shall be used only for the purpose of paying proper expenses incurred therewith and for no other purpose except chemical analysis and bacteriological tests of embalming fluids.

REGULATIONS.

1. The transportation regulations of the State Department of Health and all rules or regulations of the several departments or boards of health in the State of New York pertaining to the preparation or burial of bodies dying of contagious or infectious diseases, shall be considered a rule of the Board of Embalming Examiners and the violation of any such rule or regulation may be considered sufficient reason for the revocation of an embalmer's license.

2. No body of an infant dying of contagious or infectious disease shall be carried in a coach or other conveyance used by the public. All such bodies should be conveyed in a hearse or undertaker's wagon. Unless the body is properly embalmed and disinfected, the hearse or covered undertaker wagon shall be immediately disinfected.

3. When called to care for a body dying of small-pox, Asiatic cholera, yellow fever, typhus fever, bubonic plague, diphtheria (membranous croup), scarlet fever (scarlatina, scarlet rash), the embalmer shall wear an embalmer's suit of some smooth material drawn tight at neck, wrist and ankles and tight covering for his hair and put on the same before entering the apartments where such body lies, and remove it immediately upon leaving such apartments, and the embalmer's suit shall be immediately disinfected. The embalmer shall disinfect his hands and face immediately by washing in some good disinfectant, and also immerse his instruments in such disinfectant.

4. All paraphernalia used at funerals of contagious or infectious diseases shall be immediately fumigated unless premises have been disinfected before they were used.

5. All funerals of bodies dying of contagious or infectious diseases, except typhoid fever, puerperal fever, erysipelas or tuberculosis, are to be strictly private except that the body has been arterially embalmed and premises disinfected and permission obtained from the health authorities to be otherwise.

6. No fluid shall be injected into any human dead body by any embalmer unless he is sure that the person died of natural causes or that he has obtained permission from the attending physician.

7. No fluid shall be injected into any human dead body until the embalmer shall have applied at least five of the following tests of death:

I. Tie a piece of string or place a small elastic band around the finger. If life is present the end of the finger becomes a livid color, but no change occurs after death. This test may also be applied, by tying a cord firmly around the wrist and noticing the veins on the back of the hands; these gradually fill up with blood if life is present; if life is extinct, no change occurs. If this test is applied in this way the front of the wrist should be protected by a small piece of board or pasteboard to prevent pressure on the arteries which would shut off all blood supply.

II. Hold a cold mirror before the nostrils and mouth and notice if a moisture appears on the mirror.

III. Place a small light piece of cotton or wool or a small feather over the lips and notice if there is the slightest sign of breathing.

New York Laws.

IV. Look for rigor-mortis and discolorations in the dependent parts of the body. If the limbs are stiffened, bending them in true rigor-mortis does away with the stiffness, and discoloration may be made to disappear by changing the position of the body.

V. Examine the eye and see if it is flaccid. Flash a bright light in the eye and notice if the pupil contracts under the light and dilates when the light is removed. The eye should be kept dark for a moment before making the test. If the eye is not sensitive to light, life is extinct. In death the clear portion in the front of the eye (the cornea) becomes cloudy or milky and the eyeball flattened, and feels soft instead of firm and the white of the eye becomes brownish in color.

VI. Touch the skin lightly with black hot iron or lighted match or candle and observe if a blister containing water forms, and if the usual pinkish hue appears around the part burned. They do not appear when life is extinct.

VII. Place a saucer of quicksilver or water over the pit of the stomach, so as not to touch the ribs, and observe if there be any agitation of the surface which would indicate a pulsation of the heart or a respiratory movement.

VIII. Prick with a needle and observe whether the subject is sensitive to pain.

CORONER CASES.

8. No fluid shall be injected into any body dying suddenly, or from unnatural causes, unless that the consent of the coroner, medical examiner or attending physician has been obtained, and arterial work shall be done in such cases.

9. From and after October 1, 1907, no embalmer shall inject into any dead human body, for the purpose of preserving, disinfecting or embalming the same, any fluid that is not a thorough germicide in the proportions ordinarily used in embalming, that is eight parts of fluid to one hundred and fifty parts of body weight, or that contains arsenic, zinc, mercury, copper, lead, silver, antimony or chloral or any substance or compound that contains either or any of them, or any poisonous alkaloid. Except that nothing in this regulation shall apply to the use of the above named substances in any duly incorporated medical college or scientific institution by those having in their legal possession human cadavers intended to be used for the purpose of medical study or other legitimate purposes.

10. From and after October 1, 1907, no person, firm or corporation shall sell or offer for sale in the State of New York, any embalming fluid (concentrated or bulk) or embalming compound which is not a thorough germicide, in the proportions ordinarily used in embalming, that is eight parts of fluid to one hundred and fifty parts of body weight, or that contains arsenic, zinc, mercury, copper, lead, silver, antimony or chloral or any substance or compound that contains any or either of them, or any poisonous alkaloid.

11. For the purpose of having approved and certified by the Board of Embalming Examiners of the State of New York that an embalming fluid or compound is a thorough germicide in the proportions mentioned in regulations nos. 9 and 10 and contains none of the chemicals prohibited in regulations nos. 9 and 10 of these regulations, any person, firm or corporation manufacturing embalming fluid or compound may submit to the said board a sample of his or its product under the name by which it is known; and shall be known; to be tested and to be chemically analyzed. The Board of Embalming Examiners shall, upon such submission, have made a test of such fluid or compound to determine its germicidal qualities and a chemical analysis and upon finding that the embalming fluid or compound meets the requirements of regulations nos. 9 and 10, shall issue a certificate to such person, firm or corporation that the said embalming fluid or compound is approved for the preserving, disinfecting and embalming of dead human bodies in the State of New York. Persons, firms or corporations making application for such a certificate shall pay one hundred dollars ($100) to cover the cost of making the bacteriological tests and chemical analysis.

12. If at any time subsequent to the issuing of a certificate of approval of any embalming fluid or compound, it shall be found by a bacteriological test, that the fluid or compound is not up to the standard of the original test, upon which the certificate was issued or upon a chemical analysis, it shall be found that the fluid or compound contains chemicals prohibited in regulations nos. 9 and 10, the Board of Embalming Examiners shall revoke such certificate of approval.

RULES OF THE NEW YORK STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH FOR THE TRANSPORTATION OF THE DEAD.

These rules having been duly adopted and properly published, have the force of law.

Rule 1. The transportation of bodies dead of small-pox or bubonic plague is absolutely forbidden except upon certification, sworn to by the undertaker in charge of the remains, and the certificate of the health officer, both to be approved by the State Commissioner of Health, that the bodies have been thoroughly disinfected by (a) arterial and cavity injection with an approved embalming fluid, (b) disinfecting and stopping all orifices with absorbent cotton, and, (c) washing the body with an approved disinfectant, all of which must be done by a licensed embalmer of the State of New York. After being disinfected as above, such body shall be enveloped in a layer of dry cotton not less than one inch thick, completely wrapped in a sheet and bandaged, and encased in an air-tight zinc, copper or lead lined coffin, or iron casket, all joints and seams hermetically sealed, and all enclosed in a strong, tight wooden box. Or, the body being prepared for shipment by disinfecting and wrapping as above, may be placed in a strong coffin or casket, and said coffin or casket encased in an air-tight zinc, copper or tin case, all joints and seams hermetically soldered and all enclosed in a strong outside wooden box, or the casket may be enclosed in a hermetically sealed metal case.

Rule 2. The bodies of those who have died of Asiatic cholera, yellow fever, typhus fever, diphtheria (membranous croup), scarlet fever (scarlatina, scarlet rash), erysipelas, leprosy, glanders or anthrax, shall not be accepted for transportation unless prepared for shipment in the manner prescribed by Rule 1, the same to be approved and certified to by a local health officer.

Rule 3. The bodies of those dead of typhoid fever, puerperal fever, tuberculosis, measles and cerebro-spinal meningitis, or other dangerous communicable diseases other than those specified in Rules 1 and 2 may be received for transportation when prepared for shipment by filling the cavities with an approved embalming fluid, washing the exterior of the body with an approved disinfectant, stopping all orifices of the body with absorbent cotton, and by being arterially embalmed with an approved embalming fluid, all of which must be done by a licensed embalmer of the State of New York, and the same encased in a coffin or casket and outside wooden or metal box. In the event of bodies dying of diseases mentioned in this rule not reaching their destination within 120 hours after the hour of death, the casket or overbox shall be hermetically sealed.

Rule 4. The bodies of those dead of diseases that are not contagious, infectious or communicable, may be received for transportation when encased in a sound casket or overbox, provided that they reach their destination within thirty hours after death. If the body cannot reach its destination within thirty hours after death, it must be prepared for shipment by filling the cavities with an approved embalming fluid, washing the exterior of the body with an approved disinfectant, stopping all orifices with absorbent cotton and the body must be arterially embalmed with an approved embalming fluid by a licensed embalmer of the State of New York, and the same encased in a coffin or casket and outside wooden or metal box.

Rule 5. In cases of bodies dead of diseases mentioned in Rules 1 and 2, the body must not be accompanied by persons or articles which have been exposed to the infection of the disease, unless certified by the health officer as having been properly disinfected; and before selling passage tickets, agents shall carefully examine the transit permit and note the name of the passenger in charge, and of any others proposing to accompany the body. The transit permit in such cases shall specifically state who is authorized by the local board of health to accompany the remains. In all cases where bodies are forwarded under Rules 1 and 2 notice must be sent by telegraph to health officer at destination, advising the date and train on which the body may be expected. This notice must be sent by or in the name of the health officer at the initial point, and is to enable the health officer at destination to take all necessary precautions at that point.

Rule 6. Every dead body must be accompanied by a person in charge, who must be provided with a passage ticket and also present a full first-class ticket marked "Corpse" for the transportation of the body, and a transit permit—with undertaker's certificate, name of deceased, date of death; age, place of death, cause of death, the point to which the body is to be shipped, and when death is caused by any of the diseases specified in Rules 1 and 2, the name of the person authorized by the local board of health to accompany the body. The undertaker's certificate and paster shall be detached from the transit permit and pasted on the coffin box. The transit permit shall be handed to the passenger in charge of the corpse. When a body is transported by express, the express messenger will be in charge of the body, hold the transit permit and surrender the same to the person to whom the corpse is consigned.

Rule 7. Every disinterred body, dead from any disease or cause, shall be treated as infectious or dangerous to the public health and shall not be accepted for transportation unless said removal has been approved by the local health authorities having jurisdiction where such body is disinterred, and the consent of the health authorities of the locality to which the corpse is consigned has first been obtained; and if the death was from causes specified in Rule 1 the approval of the State Commissioner of Health must likewise be obtained. All such disinterred remains shall be enclosed in a hermetically sealed zinc, tin or copper lined coffin or box or hermetically sealed metal case. Bodies deposited in receiving vaults shall not be treated and considered the same as buried bodies when originally prepared by a licensed embalmer of the State of New York as directed in Rules 1, 2 and 3 (according to the nature of the disease causing death), provided shipment takes place within thirty days from time of death. After thirty days all such bodies must be enclosed in a hermetically sealed casket or in a casket enclosed in a hermetically sealed (soldered) zinc, tin or copper lined box or hermetically sealed metal case, and permission must be obtained from the health authorities of the locality to which the corpse is consigned before the shipment is made. Bodies not so prepared and deposited in receiving vaults will be treated the same as buried bodies.

Rule 8. The term "approved embalming fluid" as used in these rules means an embalming fluid that has been submitted to a bacteriological test and approved by the Board of Embalming Examiners of the State of New York. A 5 per cent. solution of carbolic acid, a 1/500 solution of corrosive sublimate or 14 per cent. of a 40 per cent. solution of formaldehyde are approved as disinfectants for external washing of bodies when required by these rules. Other prepared disinfectants of equal germicidal action may also be used.

To Transportation Agents Concerned:

You will in no case receive a corpse for transportation unless accompanied by a board of health certificate, also an undertaker's certificate that the body has been prepared for burial and shipment in accordance with the rules of the State Department of Health, nor will you receive it even with such certificates if fluids are escaping from the case or it has become offensive in any degree. One full first-class limited or unlimited ticket will be required for the transportation of a corpse without regard to the age of the deceased, and a corpse will not be taken for transportation except there is a passenger with it in charge. The word "Corpse" should be plainly written on the face of a local and each coupon of a coupon ticket. A record must be made of all bodies shipped and carried, on the back of your station and trip reports, giving name of deceased, and destination.

It will be the duty of agents and baggage agents to see that each burial case is properly marked on "paster," giving date and at what station shipped, point of destination, "state," number and form of ticket, name of passenger in charge and place of residence, with name of agent. If the corpse is destined to a point beyond the initial line, the initials of each road over which it passes must be written on the paster; also the terminal point of each road at which transfer is made with connecting line, as shown on the coupons of the ticket.

You will see that the "Certificate of Undertaker" is properly filled out by him, and the paster is properly filled out by yourself and it securely pasted to the coffin box before it is put into the car, and the permit remaining you will hand to the passenger in charge of the corpse.

All this information is necessary to insure the prompt and correct transportation of the corpse.

CEMETERIES.

Cemeteries may be organized under the general laws of the State, or may be incorporated under a special law, when in the judgment of the legislature, the objects of the corporation can not be attained under the general laws (Const. N. Y., Art. 8, § 1).

Cemeteries are usually incorporated under the Membership Corporation Law, Article IV. This statute provides the manner of incorporation, organization and management, and governs the rights, duties and obligations of the corporation, its members and lot owners.

Cemetery lands may be acquired by eminent domain, purchase, gift and dedication.

The rights and privileges of members and lot owners are fixed and determined by the statutory law, and by the rules and regulations of the corporation. As a general proposition a plot can not be transferred after an interment has been made therein.

The real estate of a corporation organized exclusively for cemetery purposes is exempt from taxation, unless organized for profit, or its officers receive profit therefrom beyond a reasonable compensation for their services (Tax Law, § 4, Subd. 7).

or embellishment of private burial lots in cemeteries, and the walks, fences, monuments, structures and tombs therein are permitted, and shall be deemed to be for charitable and benevolent uses, and shall not be deemed invalid by reason of any indefiniteness or uncertainty of the persons designated as beneficiaries, nor shall they be deemed invalid as violating any existing law against perpetuities or the suspension of the power of alienation (Personal Prop. Law, § 13*a*; Real Prop. Law, § 114*a*).

The Board of Health of the State of New Jersey takes cognizance of all matters effecting the life and health of citizens (Gen. Stat. Health, §§ 1, 2).

Said board also constitutes the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, which among other things registers deaths occurring in the State (Gen. Stat. Health, § 2).

Such boards also have the power to regulate the burial and interment of human bodies (Gen. Stat. Health, § 29).

It is not lawful for any sexton or undertaker to act as deputy registrar of vital statistics, nor to issue permits for the burial of the dead (Gen. Stat. Health, § 99).

All applicants for licenses as undertakers and embalmers are required to pass uniform examinations upon questions pertaining to embalming, the disposition of the human bodies and shipment of bodies of persons dying of contagious or infectious diseases, or any cause whatsoever, in accordance with the rules of the State Board of Health, and upon such other subjects as the board may deem proper (Ch. 219, L. 1906, § 3).

No person shall engage in the undertaking or embalming business without a license (Ch. 219, L. 1906, § 10).

In order to obtain a license all applicants must pass an examination held by the State Board and must file an application accompanied by $5, and the certificate of three persons that the applicant is twenty-one years of age, is of good moral character, has had a grammar-school education, and has served two years' apprenticeship with a reputable funeral director (Ch. 219, L. 1906, § 4, 5).

The license when issued must be recorded by the State Board, and must be registered with the local board of health, and displayed in a conspicuous place in the office or place of business of the licensee (Ch. 219, L. 1906, § 6).

The said board has the power of revocation of licenses upon the conviction of the licensee of certain offenses and for the violation of the provisions of this act, or of the rules and regulations of the State Board (Ch. 219, L. 1906, §§ 7, 10, 11) and the offenses mentioned in said § 11 are punishable by a fine of $100.

The license issued by the State Board is not assignable, and only one person may conduct business thereunder, except in the case of representatives of a deceased licensee who are continuing the business (Ch. 219, L. 1906, § 8).

The transportation of the dead is governed by Ch. 156 of the laws of 1900.

It is not lawful for any undertaker or other person to convey or aid in the conveyance to any railroad or common carrier, to be transported across or within the State, nor is it lawful for any common carrier to accept for transit, or to transport across, or within the State, any human body dead of certain specified contagious or infectious diseases, unless the same is enclosed in a hermetically sealed casket, and unless a license of such transportation be obtained from the Board of Health of the State, and a violation of this statute is punishable by a fine of $100 (Ch. 156, Laws of 1900, § 1).

New Jersey Laws.

When it is desired to transport by common carrier across or within the State the body of a deceased person, duplicate certificates of death must be obtained from the physician in last attendance, or some other physician of good standing, which certificates must set forth the name of the deceased, the names and place of birth of his or her parents, the age, sex, color, nativity and occupation of deceased, whether married, or unmarried, widower or widow, last place of residence, duration of residence in New Jersey, place of, cause, date and hour of death, and place of interment. Duplicate certificates must also be obtained from the undertaker, stating that the body of said deceased has been prepared by him for transit, as required by law, and shall contain an application for a permit to remove such body stating place from and to which it is desired to convey the same, and the name of the person to accompany the body in transit. The giving of a false certificate is punishable by a fine of $100 (Ch. 156, Laws of 1900, § 2).

Upon filing with the local Registrar of Vital Statistics, one of each of said certificates, said registrar shall issue a transit permit (Ch. 156, Laws of 1900, § 3).

When it is desired to transport by common carrier, from a point without, to a point within or across the State, a body of a person who shall have died outside of the State, the undertaker or person attending said body in transit or shipping same, shall attach to the outside of the casket, a certificate of death made by the physician, who attended the deceased during the last illness. If such certificate is not so attached as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for a common carrier to refuse transportation. If it be inconvenient to obtain such physician's certificate, then any member of a local board of health may, after inquiry, make such certificate. If there be no undertaker's certificate accompanying such body, and it be inconvenient to obtain same, one of the members of such board after a satisfactory examination may in a case provided for in § 1, grant a transit certificate (Ch. 156, Laws of 1900, § 4).

Every local Registrar of Vital Statistics shall monthly transmit to the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, all certificates of death and undertakers' certificates, filed with him during the preceding month (Ch. 156, Laws of 1900, § 5).

The State Board of Health may make, alter and amend rules, prescribing the manner in which human bodies dead from any cause and intended to be transported, shall be disinfected, embalmed enveloped or incased (Ch. 156, Laws of 1900, § 7).

RULES REGULATING THE TRANSPORTATION OF DEAD HUMAN BODIES BY COMMON CARRIERS.

Issued by the Board of Health of the State of New Jersey under authority contained in Chapter 156 of the Laws of 1900.

1. Stat. Marriages, Birth and Deaths, § 7).

Stat. Marriages, Births and Deaths, § 10).

Stat. Cem., § 7).

Cemetery lands, and bonds and mortgages given to secure the purchase money of such cemetery lands, shall be exempt from taxation and are not liable to be sold under execution (Gen. Stat. Cem., §§ 8, 9).

This provision does not apply to interments in properly constructed vaults (Gen. Stat. Cem., § 28).

No deceased human body shall remain more than forty-eight hours in any receiving vault, the depth of which is less than five feet below the natural surface of the ground, between the first day of May and the first day of November. This provision does not apply to properly constructed receiving vaults, which prevent the escape of noxious and unhealthy gases (Gen. Stat. Cem., § 31).

Between May 1 and November 1 in each year, no dead body shall be disinterred and removed except by direction of a court of competent jurisdiction for the purpose of criminal investigation (Gen. Stat. Cem., § 45).

The municipal authorities of the city, town and township in which any cemetery is or shall be located may pass, alter and repeal ordinances to regulate interments and disinterment, and the manner thereof, and prescribe a penalty by fine not exceeding $50, in each case, or by punishment not exceeding ten days in each case, for any violation thereof, and said authorities shall have the power and authority to enter into any such cemetery and examine into the condition thereof to determine whether such ordinances are enforced (Gen. Stat. Cem., § 24).

CONNECTICUT LAWS.

EMBALMERS, UNDERTAKERS, BURIALS, AND TRANSPORTATION OF THE DEAD.

All matters of public health are governed by the State Board of Health, which consists of six persons (Gen. Stat., § 2502).

The duties of the said board, among other things, consists of investigations into questions of sanitation, the causes of diseases and epidemics, the sources of mortality, the effects of localities and employments, conditions and habits on the public health, the collection of facts and data regarding these matters, and of recommendations in regard thereto (Gen. Stat., §§ 2505-2510).

In the various sections of the State, the health of the community and the execution of the laws regarding health are under the supervision of local health officers, who are known as county, city, town and borough health officers, according to the district they represent (Gen. Stat., § 2317 et seq.).

"The Connecticut Board of Examiners of Embalmers" was created in 1903. It is composed of five members (Ch. 159, Pub. Acts, 1903, §§ 1, 2, 3, 4).*

This board has the power, from time to time, to adopt rules and regulations and by-laws, subject to the approval of the State Board of Health, in accordance with which the duties of the board shall be performed, and the practice of embalming dead bodies, and of disinfecting all bodies of persons dying of any contagious or infectious disease shall be conducted (Ch. 159, Pub. Acts, 1903, § 5).

Every person desiring to practice the profession of embalming shall be examined, upon payment of a fee not to exceed ten dollars, concerning his knowledge of embalming, sanitation, disinfection and the signs of death, and the manner in which they may be determined. If the applicant shall be of good moral character and shall prove his efficiency, said board shall issue a license to practice the profession of embalming for one year. At the expiration of said license, if the holder thereof shall desire, a renewal shall be granted except for cause. The annual fee for the renewal of a license shall not exceed five dollars. All renewals shall be applied for within thirty days after expiration and accompanied by the renewal fee, otherwise the applicant must pass a new examination (Ch. 159, Pub. Acts, 1903, § 6).

Said board shall report to the State Board of Health the name and residence of every person to whom it issues a license. Each license is non-assignable and non-transferable, and must be displayed in a conspicuous place in the office or place of business of the licensee (Ch. 159, Pub. Acts, 1903, § 9).

No person shall practice the profession of embalming without having first secured a license, unless he shall be conducting same under the direction of a regularly licensed embalmer. A violation of this provision is punishable by fine for each offence (Ch. 159, Pub. Acts, § 10, Ch. 81, Pub. Acts, 1907, § 1).

No licensed embalmer shall sign a certificate attesting the preparation, or embalming of a body unless the same was prepared or embalmed by him (Ch. 81, Pub. Acts, 1907, § 4).

No person shall inject any fluid into any cavity or artery of the body of any person who has come to a sudden, violent or untimely death, or of any person found dead, the manner of whose death is not known, until permission has been obtained from the coroner of the county, or the medical examiner of the town in which the dead body lies. The violation of this last provision is punishable by a fine of not more than $500 for each offence (Ch. 81, Pub. Acts, 1907, §§ 5, 6).

The custody and control of the remains of deceased residents of the State rest in the husband, wife or next of kin of the decedent. In the event of a dispute regarding such custody and control, same may be determined and awarded by the Court of Probate (Gen. Stat., § 363).

No person shall bury any corpse within four feet of the surface of the ground and a violation of this provision is punishable by a fine of not more than $50 or imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or both (Gen. Stat., § 1376).

Every person who, without the consent of the husband, wife or next of kin of the deceased, shall remove any corpse from its place of sepulture or secrete, or assist in surgical experiments therewith or dissection thereof, knowing same to have been so removed, shall be fined not more than $2,000 and imprisonment not more than five years (Gen. Stat., § 1377).

The body of any executed criminal must be buried in a county designated by the relations or friends thereof, provided requests be made on or before the day of execution. If unclaimed, said body shall be disposed of as provided by law; the expenses of funeral shall not exceed $50 (Gen. Stat., § 1527).

Violent deaths shall be reported to the medical examiner of the local town. After the termination of all legal proceedings, such bodies shall be forthwith delivered to friends of the deceased for interment, otherwise the proper authorities of such town shall bury same, and the expense shall be paid by the town, if said deceased person shall not have left sufficient property to defray the same (Gen. Stat., §§ 1774, 1784).

The various town clerks shall be ex-officio registrars of deaths (Gen. Stat., § 1855).

There may be an assistant registrar of deaths appointed by the town clerk, with the approval of the selectman (Gen. Stat., § 1856).

Every registrar shall ascertain, and record deaths occurring in his town, and make a report periodically to the Superintendent of Vital Statistics (Gen. Stat., § 1858).

The physician last in attendance upon a deceased person shall within twenty-four hours after death make a certificate stating the full name of the deceased, the cause or causes of death, and the duration of disease if any. The undertaker in charge of the burial of such person shall make a certificate stating the full name of deceased, date of death, place of death, including street and number and ward, if any, number of families in house, if tenement, residence at time of death, occupation, condition (single, married, divorced or widowed) and if a wife, or widow, of whom, date of birth, sex, color, birthplace, father's name in full, father's birthplace, mother's full maiden name, mother's birthplace, place of burial, from whom he received the information, whether or not the body was embalmed, and if so the name of the embalmer, and the number of his license. These certificates shall be deposited with the registrar of the town in which said person died in order to obtain a permit for burial or removal, as required in Sections 1864 and 1871 of the General

Connecticut Laws.

Statutes. A certificate of death, giving the cause of death in any term having the same meaning as heart failure, shall be deemed insufficient upon which to issue a burial or removal permit. Every person preparing for burial a body of any person who shall have died from certain named contagious and infectious diseases, shall disinfect said body as provided by the rules of the State Board of Health, or enclose it in an air tight coffin or case, hermetically sealed and shall give to the registrar a certificate to this effect. The violation of this section is punishable by a fine of not more than $25 (Gen. Stat., § 1862).

No deceased person shall be buried until a burial permit stating the place of burial has been obtained, and that the certificate of death required by law has been returned and recorded (Gen. Stat., § 1864).

Every town registrar shall each month transmit to the secretary of the State Board of Health a statement of the mortality of his town in the form required by the State Board (Gen. Stat., § 1864).

No person shall open any grave for the disinterment of a body without having first procured from the registrar a permit therefor (Gen. Stat., § 1866).

On receipt of a death certificate, or if one is a matter of record, or if the original burial permit, in the case of a body brought into a town for burial, is recorded, the registrar may issue a permit for the disinterment or removal of a body, but no permit for said purposes shall be issued during the months of June, July, August and September, except when required for the purpose of legal investigation, nor shall any permit be issued where death was caused by an infectious disease, except by permission, and under the direction of the town health officer (Gen. Stat., § 1867).

Bodies of deceased persons shall not be removed from, or into the limits of any town, unless there shall be attached to the coffin containing same, a permit by the registrar of deaths in the town where death occurred, certifying the cause of death, and the town in which burial is to be had, and further certifying, where death was caused by certain contagious or infectious diseases, that said body is enclosed in an air tight coffin or case, hermetically sealed, and has been disinfected in the manner prescribed by the State Board of Health (Gen. Stat., § 1871).

Where a body is brought into this State for burial, if it is accompanied by a proper removal permit from the authorities of the State from which it was brought, such permit shall be deemed sufficient, otherwise application must be made for a permit from the registrar of the town in which burial is to be had, which shall be issued when the information, as required by law, is furnished as to the identity of the deceased and the cause of death. A violation of this section is punishable by a fine of not more than $500, or imprisonment of not more than six months, or both (Gen. Stat., § 1871).

The State shall pay the sum of $35 toward the burial of an honorably discharged veteran, whose estate is insufficient to pay the necessary expenses of his burial, who was a legal resident of the State, or whose service was credited to the State (Gen. Stat., §§ 2880, 2881).

The grave of such deceased shall be marked by a suitable headstone, to cost not more than $16 (Gen. Stat., § 2882).

The State Comptroller shall pay to the Soldier's Hospital Board the sum of $35 toward the funeral expenses of any soldier, sailor, or marine, upon the roll of said board, who shall die a resident of the State, not having sufficient estate to pay his funeral expenses (Gen. Stat., § 2883).

Upon proper proof, that the grave of an honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine, buried in the cemetery plot owned by the State in Spring Grove, at Darien, is unmarked by a suitable headstone, such stone shall be erected under provision of § 2882 (Gen. Stat., § 2884).

Where any deceased soldier or sailor has been buried at the expense of the State, the State shall be reimbursed, if it afterwards appears that such deceased left any estate, and the claim of the State shall be a preferred one (Gen. Stat., § 2885).

Every person delivering or receiving a corpse for the purpose of speculation, or pecuniary profit, shall be fined not more than $1,000 and imprisoned not more than one year (Gen. Stat., § 4437).

TRANSPORTATION PROHIBITED.

Rule 1. The transportation of bodies dead from small-pox and bubonic plague, from one state, territory, district or province to another, is absolutely prohibited.

TRANSPORTATION OF BODIES DYING FROM CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Rule 2. The transportation of bodies dead of Asiatic cholera, yellow fever, typhus fever, diphtheria (membranous croup), scarlet fever (scarlatina, scarlet rash), erysipelas, glanders, anthrax or leprosy, shall not be accepted for transportation unless prepared for shipment by being thoroughly disinfected by (a) arterial and cavity injection with an approved disinfecting fluid; (b) disinfection and stopping of all orifices with absorbent cotton, and, (c) washing the body with the disinfectant, all of which must be done by an embalmer holding a certificate as such, issued by the state or provincial board of health, or other state or provincial authority provided for by law.

After being disinfected as above, such bodies shall be enveloped in a layer of dry cotton not less than one inch thick, completely wrapped in a sheet securely fastened and encased in an air-tight zinc, copper or lead-lined coffin, or iron casket, all joints and seams hermetically sealed, and all enclosed in a strong, tight wooden box, or the body being prepared for shipment by disinfecting and wrapped as above, may be placed in a strong coffin or casket encased in an air-tight zinc, copper or tin-lined box, all joints and seams hermetically soldered.

For interstate transportation under this rule, only embalmers holding a license issued or approved by the state or provincial boards of health, or other state or provincial authority provided by law, after examination, shall be recognized as competent to prepare such bodies for shipment.

TRANSPORTATION OF BODIES DYING FROM OTHER THAN CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Rule 3. The bodies of those dead from typhoid fever, puerperal fever, tuberculosis or measles, may be received for transportation when prepared for shipment by arterial and cavity injection with an approved disinfecting fluid, washing the exterior of the body with the same, and enveloping the entire body with a layer of cotton not less than one inch thick and all wrapped in a sheet securely fastened and encased in an air-tight metallic coffin or casket, or air-tight metal-lined box, provided that this shall apply only to bodies which can reach their destination within thirty hours from time of death. In all other cases, such bodies shall be prepared by a licensed embalmer holding a certificate as provided for in Rule 2, when air-tight sealing and bandaging with cotton may be dispensed with.

Rule 4. The bodies of those dead from any cause not stated in Rules 2 and 3 may be received for transportation when encased in a sound coffin or casket, and enclosed in a strong outside wooden box, provided they can reach their destination within thirty hours from the time of death. If the body cannot reach its destination within thirty hours from time of death, it must be prepared for shipment by arterial and cavity injection with an approved disinfecting fluid, washing the exterior of the body with the same and enveloping the entire body with a layer of dry cotton not less than one inch thick, and all wrapped in a sheet securely fastened and encased in an air-tight metallic coffin or casket or an air-tight metal-lined box. But when the body has been prepared for shipment by being thoroughly disinfected by a licensed embalmer, as defined and directed in Rule 2, the air-tight sealing and bandaging with cotton may be dispensed with.

Connecticut Laws.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR TRANSPORTATION.

Rule 5. In the shipment of bodies dead from any disease named in Rule 2, such body must not be accompanied by persons or articles which have been exposed to the infection of the disease, unless certified by the health officer as having been properly disinfected.

Before selling ticket, agents should carefully examine the transit permit and note the name of the passenger in charge, and of any others proposing to accompany the body, and see that all necessary precautions have been taken to prevent the spread of the disease. The transit permit shall in such cases specifically state who is authorized by the health authorities to accompany the remains. In all cases where bodies are forwarded under Rule 2, notice must be sent by telegraph by the shipping embalmer to the health officer, or, when there is no health officer, to other competent authority at destination, advising the date and train on which the body may be expected.

Rule 6. Every dead body must be accompanied by a person in charge, who must be provided with a passage ticket and also present a full first-class ticket marked "corpse" for the transportation of the body, and a transit permit showing physician's or coroner's certificate, name of deceased, date and hour of death, age, place of death, cause of death, and all other items of the standard certificate of death recommended by the American Public Health Association and adopted by the United States Census Bureau, as far as obtainable, including health officer's or registrar's permit for removal, whether a communicable or non-communicable disease, the point to which the body is to be shipped, and when death is caused by any of the diseases specified in Rule 2, the names of those authorized by the health authorities to accompany the body. Also the undertaker's certificate as to how the body has been prepared for shipment. The transit permit must be made in duplicate, and the signature of the physician or coroner, health officer and undertaker must be on both the original and duplicate copies. The undertaker's certificate and paster of the original shall be detached from the transit permit and securely fastened on the end of the coffin box. All coffin boxes must be provided with at least four handles. The physician's certificate and transit permit shall be handed to the passenger in charge of the corpse. The whole duplicate copy shall be sent to the official in charge of the baggage department of the initial line, and by him to the secretary of the state or provincial board of health of the state or province from which said shipment is made.

WHEN SHIPPED BY EXPRESS.

Rule 7. When bodies are shipped by express a transit permit as described in Rule 6 must be made out in duplicate. The undertaker's certificate and paster of the original shall be detached from the transit permit and securely fastened on the coffin box. The physician's certificate and transit permit shall be attached to and accompany the express waybill covering the remains, and be delivered with the body at the point of destination to the person to whom it is consigned. The whole duplicate copy shall be sent by the forwarding express agent to the secretary of the state or provincial board of health of the state or province from which said shipment was made.

TRANSPORTATION OF DISINTERRED BODIES.

Rule 8. Every disinterred body, dead from any disease or cause, shall be treated as infectious or dangerous to the public health and shall not be accepted for transportation unless said removal has been approved by the state or provincial health authorities having jurisdiction where such body is disinterred, and the consent of the health authorities of the locality to which the corpse is consigned has first been obtained; and all such disinterred remains, or the coffin or casket containing the same, must be wrapped in a woolen blanket thoroughly saturated with a 1/100 solution of corrosive sublimate, and enclosed in a hermetically soldered zinc, tin or copper-lined box. But bodies deposited in receiving vaults shall not be treated and considered the same as buried bodies when originally prepared by a licensed embalmer, as defined in Rule 2, and as directed in Rule 2 or 3 (according to the nature of the disease causing death), provided shipment takes place within thirty days from time of death. The shipment of bodies prepared in the manner above directed by licensed embalmers from receiving vaults may be made within thirty days from time of death without having to obtain permission from the health authorities of the locality to which the body is consigned. After thirty days the casket or coffin box containing said body must be enclosed in a hermetically soldered box.

Rule 9. All rules and parts of rules conflicting with these rules are hereby repealed.

CEMETERIES.

Cemetery associations may be organized in accordance with the provisions of Section 3937, and land for the enlargement of a cemetery, may be taken in accordance with the provisions of Section 4115 (Gen. Stat., § 4452).

Town, cemetery associations and ecclesiastical societies, may

No cemetery or ice pond shall be located within six hundred feet of each other, unless said ice pond is on a higher level, or unless proper court proceedings are had to determine the amount of damage to such ice pond (Gen. Stat., § 4454).

Every cemetery association organized for the purpose of enlarging an old public burial ground, not owned in fee by any person or persons, shall enclose it and keep it enclosed when enlarged and have control thereof (Gen. Stat., § 4455).

Towns, and ecclesiastical societies and cemetery associations may receive, accept and hold in trust, donations, the income of which is to be used wholly, or in part, for the care or improvement of their cemetery or burial lots, or of private lots within such cemetery or elsewhere. All such donations shall be invested as required by law, for the investment of trust funds, except when otherwise authorized by the donor (Gen. Stat., §§ 4456, 4457, 4458, 4459).

Any cemetery association may create and set aside from its surplus a sum not exceeding $200,000 as a perpetual fund, the income from which shall be devoted to the management, care and maintenance of the cemetery property. Such fund shall be invested in accordance with the statute concerning the investment of trust funds, and a statement shall be rendered annually to the Probate Court for the district within which the said property is located (Ch. 58, Pub. Acts, 1907).

Where cemetery property is located in two adjoining towns, a certificate of the registrar of one of said towns shall be sufficient to enable such cemetery association to bury a deceased person in said cemetery (Gen. Stat., 4460).

Any town may direct the expenditure of not more than $100 per year for the care of neglected cemeteries (Gen. Stat., § 4461).

Subject to the inspection and approval of the State Board of Health, crematories may be erected and maintained for the decent and proper disposal by the incineration of the bodies of the dead (Gen. Stat., § 4463).

Any public institution of the State may erect and maintain a crematory for the incineration of the dead bodies of those connected therewith officially or of inmates, or of such persons as may be deemed advisable (Gen. Stat., § 4464).

Stat., § 4465).

The body of a deceased person may be cremated, or removed from the State for such purposes, and in every such case the certificate required by law shall be filed with the registrar, who shall issue a permit for such cremation, which shall not take place until at least forty-eight hours after the death, unless such death was the result of contagious or infectious disease (Gen. Stat., § 4466).

The duties of the board consist of taking cognizance of the interests of the life and health of the people of the State, making sanitary investigations, inquiring into the cause of diseases, and epidemics, sources of mortality, effects of localities, employments, conditions and circumstances upon the public health, and the sale of drugs and foods, and the gathering and collation of information regarding such matters (Ch. 75, Rev. L., § 4).

Each municipality, except Boston, has a board of health, composed of three persons (Ch. 75, Rev. L., § 5).

Each local board of health may license annually, a suitable number of undertakers, who must be able to read and write the English language. Licenses are issued upon such terms and conditions as said board may prescribe, and are revocable upon the violation of same (Ch. 78, Rev. L., § 44).

The body of a deceased person shall not be cremated within forty-eight hours, unless death is due to certain contagious diseases (Ch. 78, Rev. L., § 37).

No undertaker shall bury or exhume a human body without first obtaining a permit so to do, and no such permit shall be issued until the attending physician has given his certificate of death, and if death be due to violence, such certificate must be issued by the medical examiner. The violation of these provisions is punishable by a fine of not more than $50 (Ch. 78, Rev. L., §§ 38-42).

Upon the death of any person, the physician in attendance shall forthwith give the undertaker, or other authorized person, or member of the decedent's family, a certificate stating the age of the deceased, the disease causing death, the duration of the illness, and the date of death (Ch. 29, Rev. L., § 10).

Massachusetts Laws.

Every undertaker in charge of a funeral shall forthwith obtain a physician's certificate of death, and shall enter thereon the facts as required by § 1 of this chapter, and return it to the Board of Health (Ch. 29, Rev. L., § 12).

No common carrier shall convey a deceased person, dead of certain contagious diseases, unless the same is encased and prepared so as to exclude danger of contagion or infection, and no permit for removal shall be issued until such body has been so prepared, and the violation of this section is punishable by a fine of not more than $25 (Ch. 78, Rev. L., § 43).

The Board of Registration in Embalming was created in 1905, and is composed of three skilled embalmers (Ch. 76, Rev. L., § 1).

Applicants for an embalming certificate, upon payment of a fee of $5 shall be entitled to an examination, and if then found qualified shall be registered as embalmers (Ch. 76, Rev. L., § 4).

The said board may adopt rules and regulations governing the care and disposition of human dead bodies and the business of embalming (Ch. 76, Rev. L., § 6).

The board shall keep a record of the names of all persons registered as embalmers (Ch. 76, Rev. L., 7).

The board shall investigate all complaints of disregard, non-compliance with, or violation of the provisions of this act, and shall bring such matters to the notice of the proper authorities (Ch. 76, Rev. L., § 8).

Every certificate of registration shall be conspicuously displayed in the place of business of the holder (Ch. 76, Rev. L., § 9).

Every person who, without being registered, shall engage in the business of embalming, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding two months or both (Ch. 76, Rev. L., § 10).

No embalming fluid, or any substitute therefor, shall be injected into the body of any person, supposed to have come to his death by violence, until the issuance of a permit in writing signed by the medical examiner (Ch. 24, Rev. L., § 20).

Your Shipping Instructions

Will be attended to without delay if you are a member of the Guaranteed UNDERTAKERS' CO-OPERATIVE SYNDICATE (Incorporated)

The credit of every member of this organization is guaranteed by the Syndicate, so that whenever a member asks a brother Funeral Director to attend to transfer work for him there will be no delay in making advance payments, looking up references or establishing credit, thus saving time and eliminating worry. If a member is delinquent in his payment for exchange business, the Guaranteed Undertakers' Co-Operative Syndicate, after receiving due notice of his default, will in thirty days pay all adjusted claims in full, provided such claims do not exceed $300 in any single case. The organization is incorporated under the laws of Wisconsin, its capital is $10,000, and it is bonded for twice that sum, making a solid financial wall to support its claims and guarantees to the subscriber.

The names of members are printed monthly in a Journal which is distributed to 20,000 undertakers throughout the United States and Canada, all of which tends to concentrate with each member desirable shipping business from or to his locality. In addition to guaranteeing his credit and giving him national publicity twelve times a year, each member is also entitled to price lists from other members, showing in advance just what their transfer work will cost; and a telegraph code for minimizing the cost of transfer messages. This code book alone will in a short time save enough in telegraph tolls to more than pay the cost of membership. The book is not for sale but is the property of the Syndicate, and is loaned to subscribers for use during the life of their membership.

Membership Fee, $10.00 per Year

Desirable Lots Found for Purchasers Purchasers Found for Cemetery Lots

Many people who, for one reason or another, desired to dispose of their cemetery lots have placed the lots in our hands and we have been very successful in finding purchasers.

If you have patrons with lots for disposal or if you have customers who wish desirable lots that can be purchased at an advantageous price

List Them With Us.

This Cemetery Bureau has developed into a considerable feature of our business.

Our commissions are small and undertakers are always protected in their own commissions. Our facilities for finding lots at low prices, for exchanging lots or for selling lots are exceptional.

Nature's Own Method

By H. S. ECKELS

NATURE never makes a mistake. Her laws are absolute and their workings inexorable. Omniscience has provided against all contingencies and whatever of progress man has made has been by applying, and not altering, these eternally fixed laws. The more nearly, therefore, we have been able to approach Nature's methods, the more absolutely scientific our work has been. Until very recent times men believed that Nature and Science were at variance, but this feeling was born only of our lack of perception or conception of Nature's processes. The first step that the funeral director took towards placing his profession upon a scientific basis was when he realized that arterial embalming was the best, and I may say the only, method of permanently preserving the dead human body. When he began to realize that the embalming fluids after death, to secure proper distribution, must follow absolutely the course taken by the blood while life existed, the first step was taken. He was at least approaching Nature's own methods, and since Nature's way must be the best, the nearer he got to it the greater was the certainty of his success.

Arterial embalming, like most other scientific processes, has passed through a number of successively improving eras. One by one, the arteries have been picked up and their capabilities tested. I have done much of this research work myself, and in the thousands of bodies that have passed under my hands have met almost every possible conceivable obstacle that an undertaker would encounter.

The net result of this experience has been that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred I now am using the axillary artery in preference to the carotid, the brachial, the radial, the iliac, or the femoral. With instruments designed for the purpose I have found that through the axillary artery it is possible to inject the fluid directly into the arch of the aorta, the beginning of the systemic circulation in life, thus absolutely taking Nature's own method. At the same time I drain blood by way of the axillary vein, which is picked up through the same incision, directly from the superior vena cava, the great blood reservoir of the upper portions of the body and the receptacle into which Nature empties all of the veins which lead from those portions of the body which it is desirable to beautify for funeral purposes, i. e., the face and the hands.

The superiority of the axillary over the brachial and the other arteries employed before the discovery of the axillary method are many. Among them may be enumerated the fact that but one incision is necessary to secure a vein as well as a sufficiently large artery and that in the most obscure portion of the body. Both the veins and the artery lie very near the surface and are easily accessible and readily located. The operation is cleanly, modest and free, so far as I can discover, from every objection which has been effectively urged against either the carotid, the femoral or the iliac arteries.

Another advantage of the axillary method is that since practically all embalming fluids give rigidity to the body, if any other method is used the director is apt to experience very great difficulty in properly posing the body in the casket. Where suitable instruments are used in the axillary artery, it is easy to fold the arms exactly in the position they should occupy and to have them remain in place while the fluid is being injected and the blood drained. The construction of the implements not only permits, but even facilitates this. The use of the trocar to stab the heart is a relic of by-gone times and should not be resorted to by any embalmer who wishes to be considered scientific. It makes re-injection of the fluid exceptionally difficult, if not absolutely impossible, and besides is apt to have a very horrifying effect upon any member of the family who may insist upon being present during the operation of embalming. You need never lock a member of the family out of the room when the axillary method is used.

The instruments used in the Eckels-Genung Axillary Method consist of a set of three blood-draining tubes, one for children and two for adults, together with plungers fitted with hard rubber cut-off and rubber tubing, also a set of improved arterial tubes with hard rubber cut-offs. Full instructions for practicing the Eckels-Genung Axillary Method are given in a valuable book edited jointly by Charles A. Genung, former President of the New York State Embalmers Association, and myself. The book consists of 250 pages, morocco bound and profusely illustrated. The price of the instruments is $7.50 a set, the price of the book is $1.50. A special reduced price has been made for the book and instruments combined of $10.00.

On receipt of request from any responsible undertaker who will address me at 1922 Arch Street, Philadelphia, I will be glad to send a set of the instruments, together with the book.

The method is to be studied and the instruments used on three or four bodies. If they then are satisfactory, the money can be returned. Otherwise they can be returned, and I will pay all express charges both ways.

ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN CEMETERY SUPERINTENDENTS.

In 1886, a few well-known cemetery superintendents, led by the late Charles Nichols, conceived the idea of forming an Association of American Cemetery Superintendents, on broad enough lines so that all cemetery officials would be eligible and have equal rights and privileges in building up an organization that would be educational, as well as to better the condition of cemeteries, both in management and appearance.

After considerable corresponding, about twenty-five men representing the leading cemeteries, met at Cincinnati, Ohio, in October, 1887. At this meeting the Association was organized and the present constitution and by-laws were adopted.

Since then with the view of attaining its beneficial purposes, annual meetings are held affording an opportunity of discussing the best cemetery methods, and records of these deliberations are sent to all interested in cemeteries, throughout the country.

During the twenty-one years of its organization, the Association has increased its membership and the effects of its mutual educational purpose may be seen in almost every city of the United States, where there is a prosperous cemetery located.

It is safe to say that the Association's influence is now fully recognized, since its printed reports on cemetery work are sought by libraries and institutions of learning and is known to be the oldest of the societies conserving the landscape gardening and rural art, in this country.

Although the work the Association has already accomplished has been very satisfactory and receives the support of the foremost cemetery workers, as well as commercial and professional men, it is still hoped that its influence will extend to every cemetery in America and in this way prolong and extend its usefulness.

The constitution and by-laws of the Association in brief, are as follows: The object of this Association shall be the advancement of the interest and the elevation of the character of the cemeteries of America.

All officers of cemeteries, who present proper credentials at the annual meeting to a committee appointed by the president, are admitted to membership, entitled to vote upon all questions, and to elect the officers of the Association, who are a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer and an executive committee of five members; the president and secretary are members of said committee and all other committees. These officers are all elected in open meeting by ballot, during the last session of the second day's meeting. The time and place of these meetings are determined at a meeting of the previous year. The Association has power of electing honorary members, who are privileged to all discussions, but have no vote. The constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of members present and the president has power of filling all vacancies which may occur during the year.

At all meetings, the usual business proceedings are as follows: Roll-call, addresses, reports, communications, reading and discussing of papers, election of officers, unfinished business, new business and adjournment.

Membership fee is $1.50 and the annual dues are $3, payable in advance; if dues are not paid for three consecutive years the member's name is erased. Membership certificates are prepared by the secretary, signed by the president and countersigned by the secretary, then given to member upon payment of fee and dues.

Should further information be desired, write any of the following officers:

Mr. Funeral Director:

That old customer who needs your services in New York or that case to be sent to New York needs consideration as to whom you will trust with its details. You want to feel that your patron is being so well treated that you will have nothing to apologize for in the man that represents you. At the same time you want to be sure you are treated fairly.

Our facilities for this service are unsurpassed.

Our large livery contains the finest hearses and coaches, landaus, bus, covered and open wagons, etc. We are centrally located with four offices connected by a telephone switchboard with an operator in readiness every minute of the day and night. We have thirty-three employees including six funeral directors, day and night embalmers, woman assistant; all the modern equipment of the finest quality.

These things considered with our twenty-five years experience and the highest reputation should give assurance that you will do wisely in trusting any work in Greater New York to our establishment.

We are giving satisfactory service to many out-of-town funeral directors, and are sure if you join the list that your only regret will be that you did not do it before.

Correspondence is solicited.
